

PARTNERS IN DELIVERING HEALTHCARE

RECOGNISING THE ROLE OF STUDENTS

13 JUN 2024 • 09:30AM • ZOOM

HOSTED BY TRINITY COLLEGE DUBLIN AND PECNET PRACTICE EDUCATION COORDINATORS NETWORK

PROGRAMME

13 JUN 2024

0930 WELCOME

Dr Annemarie Bennett, Chair of PECNET

0935 FROM BURDEN TO BENEFIT: RE-CONCEPTUALISING CLINICAL PLACEMENTS THROUGH A PARTNERSHIP LENS

Professor Gillian Nisbet, Director of Partnerships and Placements
The University of Sydney

1030 STUDENT TALK: SUPPORTING COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND PHYSICAL ACTIVITY IN CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

Sophie Crosbie, 4th Year physiotherapy student on placement
University of Limerick

1040 LESSONS LEARNT: PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE OF SIMULATION IN PREPARING STUDENTS FOR PLACEMENT

Freda Neill, Clinical Skills Manager and Simulation Lead
School of Nursing and Midwifery, Trinity College

1100 BREAK

1120 HEALTH AND SOCIAL CARE PROFESSIONS OFFICE UPDATE

Sinead Fitzpatrick, Development Manager

1135 RAPID-FIRE RESEARCH ROUND

Range of speakers

1235 CONTEMPORARY SOCIAL WORK ISSUES IN PRACTICE LEARNING TODAY

Paula Slavin, Placement Allocations Manager
University College Dublin

1255 CLOSE

SPEAKERS

13 JUN 2024

PROFESSOR GILLIAN NISBET

Gillian Nisbet is Director of Partnerships and Placements within the School of Health Sciences at the University of Sydney.

Her background working as a dietitian for 15 years fuelled her passion for improving allied health students' learning in the workplace.

Now working in academia, Gillian's research explores approaches to effectively integrating students into healthcare services to positively contribute to service delivery, patient outcomes, and student learning.

SOPHIE CROSBIE

Sophie Crosbie is a 4th year BSc Physiotherapy student in University of Limerick. She has completed placements in the Mercy University Hospital Cork, Carrigaline Primary Care Centre, and the Children's Disability Network Team in Midleton in Cork.

She is currently completing her final placement in the Mercy Hospital, working on ICU, medical, and surgical wards in respiratory physio. She finds the acute hospital environment interesting and hopes to work in this setting after graduation.

SPEAKERS

13 JUN 2024

FREDA NEILL

Freda Neill is the Clinical Skills Manager in the School of Nursing and Midwifery in the University of Dublin, Trinity College.

Freda leads the clinical skills teaching team, implementing strategies to develop the clinical teaching components of the undergraduate and postgraduate nursing curricula.

She also leads the management of the Trinity Simulation Suite, which combines theory with the latest innovations in clinical training and practice for all healthcare professionals.

SINEAD FITZPATRICK

Sinéad Fitzpatrick is a Development Manager in the National HSCP Office. Her responsibilities include practice education and advanced practice. Her experience in national strategic roles have given her insight into the opportunities and challenges for HSCP, and she is currently building capacity for HSCP practice placements to support growth in the workforce.

Sinéad has also led the development of the HSCP Advanced Practice Framework and she continues to engage with key stakeholders to progress to implementation.

SPEAKERS

13 JUN 2024

PAULA SLAVIN

Paula is a qualified social worker with over 25 years' experience. She currently works with the Professional Masters in Social Work Programme at UCD. Her role as Practice Learning Coordinator involves developing networks with social work colleagues in practice and coordinating placement opportunities for over 100 students annually.

Paula also works with practice education colleagues from the other Schools of Social Work in Ireland, collaborating on social work practice, education, research, and training.

REGISTER HERE

SUBMIT AN ABSTRACT HERE

Abstracts are invited for poster or oral presentation. Closing date for abstracts is Fri 03 May.