

Ethics Workshop

With a view to approaching statutory registration, attendance at an Ethics training workshop is crucial for therapists of all levels. It will significantly enhance therapists understanding of what it means to be ethically compliant. It will help therapists to be continuously mindful of the importance of professional ethics and to avoid ethical conflicts.

Course Title; Ethics (One day programme).

The workshop will be delivered by The Trinity Interdisciplinary Group which is a team of academics and practitioners drawn from Occupational Therapy and Clinical Speech and Language Therapy.

Who can apply?

This course is being organised jointly by IASLT and AOTI. Allied Health Professionals at any grade/place of work/employment status may apply. Newly qualified therapists are also welcome to apply. The cost to attend is €130 and lunch will be provided.

Course Introduction:

Attendance at this workshop will enable participants to have an understanding of ethical procedures including capacity for decision making, informed consent, informed refusal, as well as having a framework for dealing with ethical problems and dilemmas in a systematic manner.

The course is designed in such a way to enable course participants who may have had limited or no education in ethics, but who may have experience of ethical dilemmas to make sense of those dilemmas and to have a framework for dealing with them on completion of the course. From this one day workshop participants will:

- gain a working knowledge of ethical principles and their application.
- be able to understand capacity, confidentiality and informed consent.
- be able to apply an ethical framework to all aspects of administration and practice.

Course Requirements:

Course participants will be required to complete a pre and post course evaluation and a brief reflective report to successfully complete the course.

Closing date for applications:

The closing date for completed applications and payment to be received is Wednesday 28th of May by 5pm.

Course Date and Location:
