The challenges of achieving the ISO50001 standard

Eamonn Williams (Energy Champion) at Aviva Stadium openly discusses the challenges and significant benefits of recently achieving the ISO50001 standard.

Now in its second year, ISO50001 Ireland 2014 is primarily designed to bring the Irish business community a unique event which highlights the challenges and benefits to Irish companies transitioning to this Internationally recognised energy standard.

Up to 150 senior management from food manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, medical, chemical, financial services, etc will attend the event as delegates and listen to industry leaders discussing the important issues of audit & accreditation, measurement & verification, finance/grant aid, legal, integrated standards and return on investment.

In addition, our delegates will hear from three International Irish based manufacturing firms who have very recently been accredited with ISO50001 and who will openly discuss the challenges and experiences they faced during the transition.

The only event of its kind, ISO50001 Ireland 2014 will bring together delegates who are considering the transition to this International standard, but yet to make the journey. This event is a must attend conference for any organisation working to achieve energy efficiency within their facility. In addition to the conference a small number of technology suppliers will be on hand to answer any technical questions our delegates and speakers may have.
